Reallionaire: Nine Steps to Become Rich from the Inside Out By Farrah Gray
www.Farahgrayfoundation.com

Who said the cause is lost? Who said our youth have not done anything for the parents a bout which to stick out their collective chests and smile ear to ear? After watching the Farrah Gray interview with Robin Roberts on the television show, Good Morning America in January 2005, I knew someone had kept hope alive. Jesse Jackson would be proud and Farrah Gray's family could not be any happier to see the youngest of 5 kids start his own entrepreneur club at 8 years of age with kids in his neighborhood on the south side of Chicago.

This book is a story of heart, hope, and helpfulness. At nineteen years of age, Farrah has written the first chapter in his life thus far. In short, Farrah shared with us his loving family of his mother, a single parent of Andre, the oldest brother, Kiki, his sister and the second oldest child, Jonathon, six years older than Farrah, and Alex, five years older than Farrah. The traits of hard work and doing your absolute best were skills Farrah learned while watching his mother work multiple jobs most of the time in order to make ends meet. The older children had chores and did them for efficient running of the household. Their mother would tolerate nothing less. While Farrah's mother and father did not marry, Farrah's father was in his life and had a positive influence.

As a result of Farrah's mother being a consultant to several business owners, she knew a gentleman named Roi Tauer. Because of Farrah's mother's belief in her son, she knew that Farrah and Roi would have to meet. Roi was to become a mentor to Farrah and teach him valuable lessons about business. Ultimately, he showed Farrah these skills could be applied in life.

Some of the Nine Steps to Becoming Rich from the Inside out are:

1. Understand the Power of a Name
2. Never fear rejection
3. Build An All Star Mentoring Team
4. Seize Every Opportunity
5. Not so fast.... You must buy the book from our store to learn the rest ☺

This is a book for teenagers and adults alike because it is inspiring. The next time your teenager cries and whines, shoe them this book. Remember.... we can never get enough inspiration in these trying times.

Rated G for Good Reading ☺
